BLOOMSTONE CENTRAL COAST CALIFORNIA

BLOOMSTONE originates in Santa Ynez Valley, California.

Santa Ynez Valley: This small valley in California offer unique growing conditions given it geology. The Valley sits on the coastal area between Los Angeles and San Diego. Unlike the famed Napa and Sonoma Valleys to the North, which run North-South, Santa Ynez Valley runs West-Northwest-East-Southeast. This coupled to it closeness to the Pacific Ocean, allows greater direct exposure to the Ocean-derived weather patterns. The net results are:

- 1) Hotter days due to a significantly further South location along the California Coast, and closeness to the Baja Desert. This results in higher flavones (what makes a wine taste as its grape's namesake) and sugars concentration. Therefore, deeper grape character development in the wine.
- 2) 2) Cooler nights due to the Pacific Ocean winds. This increases the acidity in the grape, which serves to provide the perfect balance in the finished wine.
